PUTTING THE 'OTTAWA' BACK IN THE ROUGH RIDERS

The choice of a rooster as the Ottawa Rough Riders' mascot in 1987 is particularly appropriate: it signals the dawn of a new day for a football club almost as old as the country itself.

A community-based group has taken over ownership of the club and installed new management in a campaign to satisfy a growing desire for what Mayor Jim Durrell described as "putting the Ottawa back in the Rough Riders."

The move actually brings the 111-year-old Riders' organization full circle. Before it became a privately-owned corporation in the 1960s, the club was a non-profit community-based organization.

In 1977 it was bought for $1.5 million by Allan Waters, who owns radio station CFRA. Early this year, Waters turned the club over to a community group spearheaded by local businessmen, for the sum of $1, after they had demonstrated their ability to provide a sound financial foundation.

Part of that foundation was supplied by individuals committed to the idea of a community-based professional football team. More than 6,000 answered the call to join the Rider Rooters by putting up a minimum of $50 each.

Surrounded by a steadily increasing population in the national capital region, and enjoying strong support at the city council level, the new Riders clearly have the potential to become a CFL power worthy of a history filled with great names and memorable moments.

PAUL ROBSON
General Manager

Paul Robson has roots that reach deep into Canadian football turf, through managing, coaching and playing. They go even deeper, in fact: as a kid in Winnipeg, he sold peanuts and popcorn to the crowd so that he could watch the Blue Bombers' games for nothing.

Years later, that astute business sense was to pay dividends both for Paul and the Blue Bombers. Taking over as general manager late in 1982 after five years as assistant GM and, before that, nine years as a player, his judgement and leadership style improved the community-owned Bombers' stability on and off the field.

He brings to Ottawa a wide knowledge of the workings of the CFL as well, having been Winnipeg's representative at the CFL Management Council and a delegate to the Board of Governors' meetings.

With Paul as General Manager of the Blue Bombers, the coaching staff accumulated a 44-21-1 record, made the playoffs every year, and in 1984 won the Grey Cup for the first time in 22 years.

As Assistant Manager for six years, Paul was responsible for all player personnel areas, including the Canada IX Scouting Combine which provides information on the U.S. college seniors, and for scouting Canadian college players. He prepared the Bombers' Canadian draft and co-ordinated the development of local high school-age players.

He also initiated and supervised the Bombers' player-development camp and the North-South All-Star game. Renamed the Blue-Gold Game, it has become a showcase for high school talent in Manitoba and has helped the Bombers' strengthen their Canadian talent.

As a player the Winnipeg native went to the Blue Bombers from the University of North Dakota, where he earned four letters in football while on scholarship. Before that, he was captain of the St. James Rods Canadian Junior championship team in 1961.

In January of this year, Paul Robson moved from his home-town of Winnipeg to take on the challenging position as General Manager of the Ottawa Rough Riders. The Ottawa franchise, strong in tradition, had selected Paul for his sound business and football background and also for his keen sense of community pride.

Since his arrival in the nation's capital, Paul Robson's open-door policy has kept him in touch with the people of Ottawa and the surrounding area.

Paul is a former high school teacher and school board administrator who is almost as fond of James Mitchener novels and Woody Allen movies as he is of football. He and wife Margaret have four sons, all of whom play football. The oldest, Scott, was with Montreal last season.

FRED GLICK
Head Coach

The Aurora, Colorado, native comes to the Rough Riders as Head Coach after four years as assistant coach with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and a colourful football career that began as a quarterback and defensive back at Colorado State University in the '50s. Fred is entering his fifth year of coaching in the CFL.

After an outstanding college career, Fred turned pro in 1959 with the old Chicago Cardinals of the NFL. That same year he played for the Cardinals against the Toronto Argonauts in the last exhibition game between the NFL and the CFL.

Fred followed the Cardinals to St. Louis in 1960 and the following year moved to the Houston Oilers of the American Football League.

He spent five years with the Oilers, setting an AFL record in 1963 with 12 interceptions. Second in Oiler interception history, with 30, he was named All-Pro AFL safety for three consecutive years.

Fred moved into coaching as a defensive backfield coach, first with New Mexico State in 1968, then with the University of Arizona (1969-72) and after that with Arizona State (1973-77) under Frank Kush.

He made his professional coaching debut with the St. Louis Cardinals as defensive secondary coach in 1978 under the legendary Bud Wilkinson. After two years with the Cardinals, he spent 1980 with the New Orleans Saints, in the same capacity. For two years (1981-82) he coached defensive backs with the New York Giants under Head Coach Ray Perkins.

Joining the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1983, Fred coached the linebackers for four years. He was interim Head Coach in 1985 when Cal Murphy suffered a heart attack.

Fred and his wife Marlene have three children, Greg, David and Kathy.

KEN HUSSEY
Specialty Teams Coach

While Ken comes to the Rough Riders from the University of Guelph coaching staff, he has had a colorful career in professional football.

From 1979 to 1981 Ken was a special coaching assistant with the Toronto Argonauts helping out in all coaching areas for the Boatman. It would not be until 1984 that Hussey would return to the professional ranks. He joined the New Jersey Generals in 1984 as Scout and Coach for special teams and linebackers. Ken remained with the Generals until the end of the '85 season.

At the amateur level, Ken served: as assistant coach for the Scarborough Rams of the Ontario Football Conference (Junior) in 1977; defensive line coach for the University of Toronto in 1978; General Manager and Head Coach for the Etobicoke Argonauts of the OFC in 1980; defensive coordinator at the University of Guelph in 1982; defensive backfield coach with Colgate University of the NCAA in 1983; and, most recently the defensive coordinator at the University of Guelph in 1986.

As a player, Hussey played for five years with the University of Toronto as defensive tackle. He was an Ontario-Quebec College Football Conference All-Star in 1973, '75, '76. Team captain in 1975 and '76 for the varsity Blues, he was selected to the Canadian Magazine's All-Canadian All-Star team in 1976. Ken tried out for the Toronto Argonauts in 1976 as a defensive tackle and offensive centre.

At 35 five years of age, Ken makes his home in Toronto with his wife, Sue, and their two sons.

PETE RODRIGUEZ
Defensive Coordinator

Pete comes to the Rough Riders from the campus of Northern Iowa, where he was the defensive coordinator. At fourty-six years-old, Rodriguez is entering his first year of coaching in the CFL.

The Chicago native played high school football and went on to become a three-year starter and All-Conference performer at Western State College in Colorado.

He earned his M. Ed. from the University of Arizona, where he also served on the coaching staff from 1968 to 1970. After coaching at Iowa State and Florida State universities from 1974 to 1978, he spent three years (1979-82) as head coach at Western Illinois University. He also earned his Masters in Administration at Western State College in Colorado.

Pete's professional coaching career began with the Michigan Panthers of the USFL, where he coached the defensive line in 1983 and '84. In 1985 he moved to the Denver Gold of the USFL where he was the defensive line coach, and then went to the Jacksonville Bulls for the '86 season, before the USFL folded.

He and his wife Linda have two daughters, Regina and Marla.

PAL SARTORI
Offensive Coordinator, QB & Receiver Coach

Pal joins the Ottawa Rough Riders from Winnipeg, where for two seasons he handled the quarterbacks and receivers under Head Coach Cal Murphy. In 1984 he was a guest training camp coach for the Blue Bombers. Pal is entering into his third year of coaching in the CFL.

During the 1982-83 seasons Sartori was a Graduate Assistant Coach responsible for the wide receivers at Idaho State University, having previously coached as a graduate assistant at Idaho in 1975-76.

In between, he coached at the high school level at Blackfoot, Idaho from 1980-82 and at Highland School in Pocatello, Idaho from 1976-1980.

Before going to Winnipeg, Pal, a native of Chicago, was the offensive coordinator at San Francisco State University for two years (1983-84). In 1984, he was also assistant coach in charge of the offensive line in the East-West Shrine Classic All-Star Game.

Pal is graduate of Idaho State University with a Masters Degree in Physical Education and Athletic Administration. He and his wife Sheryl have one son, Jake.

LARRYE WEAVER
Defensive Secondary

Back in the game he loves after a three-year absence, Larrye joins the Riders with 21 years' coaching experience under his belt.

The Monte Vista, Colorado, native made his coaching debut in 1964 with North Dakota State, where he handled the defensive secondary for two seasons. After spells at Arizona (where his successor was Fred Glick) and UCLA, he joined Tommy Prothro and the Los Angeles Rams as the defensive coordinator in 1971. two years later he moved on to the New England Patriots under Chuck Fairbanks, and remained with them until 1976.

From 1977 to 1980 he coached the San Diego Chargers defensive secondary and in 1981 and '82 was the Chargers' offensive coordinator. His offense set NFL records in '81 for total net yards (6,744) and passing yards (4,873).

Larrye spent a year as offensive coordinator with the Cleveland Browns under Sam Rutigliano before ill health forced him to leave football coaching.

Raised in Southern California, Larrye has graduate and undergraduate degrees from Adams State in Colorado.

BOB WEBER
Offensive Line Coach

Bob takes over the Riders' offensive after an outstanding career as a player and coach at both the college and professional level. He played for the Edmonton Eskimos in 1957 as a linebacker and centre, and began his professional coaching career as offensive line coach with the Montreal Alouettes in 1966. Bob is entering his second stint of coaching in the CFL. The Fort Collins, Colorado, native is a graduate of Colorado State University, where he starred as centre and linebacker in the early '50s.

He began coaching in 1958 as an assistant at the State Jr. College in Trinidad, Colorado, and three years later became Head Coach there.

The years 1964 and '65 found him at Colorado State University as freshman coach and defensive line coach. After a year of professional coaching with the Montreal Alouettes, in 1966, under Darrell Mudra, he followed Mudra to the University of Arizona as offensive line coach and two years later took over the head coaching job.

Following in his own tradition of taking over the head coaching position after a few years, Bob joined Vince Gibson as offensive line coach at Kansas State in 1973 and in 1977 followed Gibson to the University of Louisville, eventually becoming head coach there.

For the past two years he has been linebacker coach at Southern Methodist University under Bobby Collins.

He and his wife Connie have three children, Roger, Christine and Joey.

WAYNE GIARDINO
Director of Operations and Scouting

For the man who recently got into the catering business, there was something cooking for 1987: promotion from Director of Player Personnel for the Riders to Director of Operations and Scouting.

Wayne was considered one of the best outside linebackers in the CFL. He played 113 games for the Riders between 1967 and 1975, both as a linebacker and fullback, and still holds the CFL record for return yards on fumbles (234).

Returning to the Riders in 1983 in the player personnel job, he took over as defensive coach in 1984. In 1986, when Tom Dimitroff was elevated to head coach, Wayne replaced him as Director of Player Personnel.

In his new position, Wayne will oversee day-to-day operaions, working in conjunction with the coaching staff and front office management when the GM is not available, and will be responsible for the scouting system in Canada and the U.S.

Wayne makes his home in Almonte, Ontario with his wife, Nancy, and their children.

FRANK CLAIR
Special Advisor for Scouting and Public Relations

Affectionately known throughout football as The Professor, Frank commands a special place in the hearts of Riders' fans. With good reason, too. During his 14 years as head coach, the Riders never failed to make post-season play, winning the Grey Cup in 1960, 1968 and 1969.

In 1970 he moved to the GM's office, and under his guidance the Riders won the Grey Cup in 1973 and again in 1976. Replaced by Jake Dunlap after the 1978 season, he served as vice-president in charge of player personnel for three years, leaving to become head scout of the Toronto Argonauts.

Toronto was also the one-time Washington Redskin tight-end's first CFL club. In his first year as head coach, he led the Double Blue to the Grey Cup, where they beat Frank Larson's Winnipeg Blue Bombers 13-0. Two years later, the Professor and his Argos repeated the triumph.

After a year back in the U.S. coaching college football, the Hamilton, Ohio, native came to Ottawa. It was 1956 and the Riders had suffered two dismal years in which they did not make the playoffs. Frank promised the fans a winner within five years, and was as good as his word.

Throughout the 1987 season, fans in the Ottawa area will have the opportunity of seeing the football legend at local events. Frank Clair, in addition to his football responsibilities will bring the great football tradition, that Ottawa has known, back to the people of the community. In the off-season, he will return to his winter home in Florida to scout the schools in his area.

Director of Sales and Promotions

One of the well-known "voices" of the Rough Riders at speaking and fund-raising engagements, Gord takes on new duties in his sixth season with the club. He is responsible for the ticket office, training the student-sales team, and supervising the sale of season, group and game-day tickets.

He is also in charge of club promotions and appearances by players and coaches.

A former elementary school teacher who switched to a sales career, the Renfrew native joined the Riders as Director of Marketing in 1982. In 1986 he was appointed Director of Communications, in charge of public and media relations, promotional events and game-day activities.

For the past several years Gord, his wife Rhonda and their two sons, Trevor and Grant, have made Ottawa their home.

PHILIPE LEGAULT
Director of Media Information

Phil returns to the Club as the Director of Media Information. He will work closely with head coach Fred Glick and General Manager Paul Robson in disseminating information to the media.

Other responsibilities within Phil's portfolio include: arranging all interviews with players and coaches; the production of all Rough Rider publications and media releases; hosting the press box at all home games; and, serving as the club's advance man on road trips.

Phil came on board for the 1985 season on an internship program, and was subsequently hired on full-time in 1986 as Communications and Marketing Assistant following graduation from Laurentian University. During the winter he worked in the communications division of Sportcom International.

Phil and his wife Dianna reside in Ottawa.

MIKE SALLY
Director of Corporate Marketing

Hired for the 1986 season as Director of Marketing and Sales, Mike's new role is to supervise and monitor the Riders' corporate marketing strategy.

Mike's portfolio will include obtaining corporate game sponsors, enhancing the corporate game sponsorship program and maintaining contact with all the sponsors and suppliers to enrich the corporate program.

Mike has worked for radio stations in Halifax and Ottawa, but his first love has always been football. Born and raised in the capital, he served for three years as vice-president and general manager of the Ottawa Sooners.

When time permits, Mike enjoys racquetball and running and lists coaching both football and hockey as favourite activities. He makes his home in Nepean with his son Jason and daughter Krista.

JIM REMPEL
Equipment Manager

As the Rough Riders' new full-time equipment manager, Jim's responsibilities include purchasing and maintaining equipment, upkeep of the players' and coaches' building, and developing an enjoyable atmosphere for the players.

He has already demonstrated he has versatility for the job: in seven years with the Winnipeg Football Club, he was involved with various promotional and on-field activities, and was a key figure in designing and building the famous Blue Bomber Airplane, displayed at Winnipeg home games. Jim also assisted Gordon Bunke in hosting the Ottawa's press box throughout the 1986 season.

In the off-season, his responsibilities include managing the Riders' hockey and basketball teams.

Before joining the Rough Riders, Jim spent a year as General Manager at Gervais Motors in Ottawa.

Jim, his wife Betty and their son Byron make their home in Kanata.

DAVE REICHELT
Athletic Therapist

The 1987 season will mark Dave's first year as Athletic Therapist for the Ottawa Rough Riders. Throughout the 1986 and '85 seasons and for part of '84, Dave was with the Calgary Stampeders on a seasonal basis as their assistant athletic therapist.

He first joined the Stampeders for their training camp in 1984, remaining with them until his return to the Calgary Wranglers Hockey club of the Western Junior A League in August of 1984, as their head therapist. He was with the Wranglers for the 1983-84 and 1984-85 seasons.

His first experience in the CFL was with the B.C. Lions, where he was the assistant athletic therapist at the Lions' 1983 training camp.

Since graduating from Sheridan College in 1983, Dave has had experience in many sport environments including the 1983 World University Games, and York University.

Dave, a native of Edmonton, Alberta, is 32 years-old, married, and enjoys racquetball, volleyball, running, and cross-country and downhill skiing.

* In 1909, Earl Grey, the Governor-Genaral Of Canada, donated a trophy for the Rugby Football Championship of Canada. The trophy, which subsequently became known as The Grey Cup, was originally open to competition only for teams which were registered with the Canada Rugby Union. Since 1954 only the nine teams of the C.F.L. have challenged for the Grey Cup.
